The meet table tables in the coffee-break area were also made in the corporate colour.

Established in 1959, Interroll has built a new headquarters and a new production building in Sinsheim. As the name reveals, the company makes modules and components for plant builders. This includes rollers of all kinds, which are used for unit-load conveying, in airport technology, for post and parcel distribution or by logistics service providers.

In the conference room (above) as well as in the classrooms, freely configurable tables from the no limits range, which are mobile thanks to rollers, were used, supplemented by a speaker's desk from the same range. The comfortable netwin swivel chairs were used for seating. Photos: © Teamfoto A. Weckler (top), Sedus (bottom).
