The check-in procedure in Seeheim is not dissimilar to that in an airport. For guests, there are three different room categories.

There had been a Lufthansa training center on the ridgeline of the Odenwald forest for as long as three decades. It had grown somewhat old and was no longer able to meet the requirements. The old complex was torn down and GHP Architekten planned a new terraced complex with a gross floor area of 67,000 m<sup>2</sup> in the wooded hill area. The proximity to Lufthansa's headquarters in Frankfurt makes it an ideal location in a pleasant environment for conveying the corporate identity and culture to the training guests from all over the world. In the Lufthansa Training & Conference Center, various scenarios such as airport lobbies, wellness hotels, conference centres and comfortable clubs are optimally combined to create the appropriate ambience. The result is a location that provides a perfect framework for basic and advanced training as well as for conferences.

All the training floors are accessed via a central corridor, where there are coffee break zones and seating groups for informal encounters. In all the seminar rooms, the netwin cantilever or swivel chairs with membrane support are used.
